

IPV WealthX — Humanised Objection Handling Guide

Below are all key objections/questions investors may ask, along with warm, natural, conversational responses written in Priya's human tone.

1. Why should I attend this event?

Answer: I completely understand—it's natural to wonder if something is worth your time. This session is special because you get to hear real, experience-based insights from people like Sanjeev Bikhchandani. Not the usual theory... but practical frameworks and stories that genuinely help you think differently about wealth creation.

2. What's so special about this masterclass?

Answer: Honestly, it's the quality of conversations. These speakers don't usually share this level of detail publicly, so it's a rare chance to learn directly from people who've built and backed iconic companies.

3. I already know about investing—what will I learn that's new?

Answer: Absolutely, and that's great. What you'll get here is not basics—it's the kind of founder evaluation signals, conviction-building techniques, and timing insights that even seasoned investors find valuable.

4. Is this just another webinar?

Answer: Not at all. It's a tightly curated session with India's top wealth creators. No fluff—just sharp, practical insights that you can actually apply.

5. How is this different from YouTube or podcasts?

Answer: Fair question. Unlike YouTube, this is a closed-door conversation. The speakers are more candid, and you also get a chance to interact during the live Q&A.;

6. What exactly will I gain in 90 minutes?

Answer: You'll walk away with clarity—how successful investors think, how they judge opportunities, and how they manage risk. It's a short session but packed with value.

7. Who is Sanjeev Bikhchandani and why is he important?

Answer: He's the founder of Naukri.com and one of India's most respected entrepreneurs. He has decades of experience spotting founders early, and the way he analyses businesses is eye-opening.

8. Will I get a chance to ask Sanjeev questions?

Answer: Yes, absolutely. There's a live Q&A; at the end, so you can share your questions directly.

9. I'm busy at that time. Why should I block 90 minutes?

Answer: I totally get that. The only reason I'm suggesting this is because it's genuinely a high-value session. Even 20–30 minutes of listening could give you a fresh perspective.

10. Is the session recorded?

Answer: We'll share important highlights afterward, so even if your schedule changes, you won't miss the key takeaways.

11. Is it worth my time?

Answer: If you're someone who enjoys understanding how smart investors think, then yes—100%. It's a very focused session.

12. What's the agenda?

Answer: It starts with a quick warm-up, then a leadership session by IPV, followed by the fireside chat with Sanjeev, and ends with the live Q&A.;

13. Who else will be speaking?

Answer: Along with Sanjeev, IPV leaders like Ankur Mittal or Vinay Bansal will be sharing their frameworks and experiences.

14. Is this interactive?

Answer: Yes, there are polls, moderated segments, and an open Q&A, so it won't feel like a one-way webinar.

15. I'm not an angel investor—should I attend?

Answer: Definitely. The frameworks discussed apply across investing—whether you're just starting or already experienced.

16. Will this help with public markets?

Answer: Yes, because the mindset and decision-making principles are the same—timing, risk management, evaluating opportunities.

17. I don't have a portfolio—should I still join?

Answer: Of course. This is actually the best stage to attend—you'll learn how to approach investing the right way from day one.

18. Is this a sales pitch?

Answer: Not at all. The intent is to share knowledge and help investors understand the right frameworks. Nothing salesy.

19. Why is the event free?

Answer: IPV often conducts value-focused sessions to strengthen the investor community. That's why this one is open.

20. Do I have to invest in anything afterward?

Answer: No, not at all. There's zero obligation. This is purely a learning session.

21. Will this help my startup fundraising?

Answer: Yes, because you'll understand exactly how investors think and what signals they look for in founders.

22. How do I register?

Answer: I'll send you a WhatsApp and email link—it'll take only a few seconds to register.

23. Will I get reminders?

Answer: Yes, we'll make sure you get timely reminders so you don't miss the session.

24. Will the session be too technical?

Answer: Not at all. The speakers explain things in a simple, story-driven way. Even beginners find it easy to follow.

25. Is this useful for experienced investors?

Answer: Absolutely. The depth of insights—especially around mistakes, founder assessment, and conviction—are extremely valuable even for seasoned investors.
